

This was going originally going to be just very long and filled with a bunch of anecdotes, stories and memories. But I don't want to write that anymore. I think you have probably had enough of my writing. Those stories, both old and new, are all things I want to say to your face. Things I want to tell you while looking into your beautiful brown eyes. If you want to be reminded of what we had – go check our Google drive (which I know is still there) and whatever other things you might still have from our time. I still have everything of ours – every letter, gift and memory. Check your YouTube channel and the two latest songs that are dedicated to me. Look at how happy you were. Your eyes glow with love and anticipation. Think about how you felt during the first night you came to Sweden when we walked around the supermarket – the moment we knew it was real. We have a million happy memories together and a million things more that we had planned to create.

You already know most things about me. I've told you all about the transformation I've gone through and how it's had such an unexpected effect on me. That things actually are different, just like I said they would be when we went on our 'break'. All for the better. The easiest way to prove that is to see it for yourself. You know that I'm now pretty much done with my Master's degree and that I'm finally at a stage where I can go wherever I please in the world while also doing the work I love doing. To support you in your dreams and whatever it is you want to do, just like how we said things would be. It's all happening. And you also know I'd go anywhere for you.

So with that said I will just leave you with this - just talk to me. Come talk to me. Especially if you've already made it this far by clicking on this and reading it. What are you waiting for? Give yourself that chance. Don't be afraid. Don't live in uncertainty. Don't live with regrets. Text me. Call me. Email me. Hell, show up at my door unannounced or ask me to come see you. I would be there in a heartbeat. I think about you every day Melani. You are my number 1 and hopefully you see how incredibly committed I am to us, even when we're not together. It's because you really were my world. And you will be, forever.

I wanted to include one photo. I really loved our photoshoot. I hated the way I looked though. I was ashamed and insecure. But I have changed and fixed that. And now I'd do anything to do another shoot with you and show the world how incredibly beautiful you are and how exalted you made me. So like I said in my email that I sent you – I'm sorry I wasn't the person I am now when we were together.